Join us for a Q&A style panel with four UCDH Registered Dietitians, who will be available to take questions from the audience!

Wed., March 25  |  Noon - 1 p.m.  |  Education Building Lecture Hall, Room 2222

Meet the Panelists:

Tiana Carey RD works with inpatient hematology oncology and bone marrow transplant patients. She is currently pursuing a Masters degree in Nutrition through the University of Alabama and is President of the California Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, Northern Area District. She is passionate about working with oncology patients and believes that all foods can fit into a healthy lifestyle.

Angela Damron RD works with the Bariatric Surgery Program at UC Davis Medical Center. She holds a Certificate of Training in Adult Weight Management. She is a big promoter of whole foods nutrition and believes that a little bit of change can go a long way.

Erin Lavin RD, CNSC is a clinical dietitian at UC Davis Medical Center. As the med center's neuroscience dietitian, she is passionate about nutrition and the brain and, as the Brain-Gut Connection suggests, she has expanded her interest down to the bowels as well. She spoke at the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetic's annual conference in 2018 and presented research on the nutrition needs of traumatically brain injured patients as well as the creation of Bowel Management Guidelines for the Neurosurgical ICU at the Neurocritical Care Society's international annual symposium.

Evy Miller MAS, RD, IBCLC has a wide array of experiences in both clinical and community nutrition. She works at UCDMC in the internal medicine and family practice clinics. Evelyn is a certified Lifesteps® leader and enjoys supporting individuals to achieve their health and wellness goals.

SIGN UP today!

Join us in-person: surveymonkey.com/r/RDpanel-March2020

Add your question(s) for the panelists ahead of time during online registration. Light refreshments will be provided.