RE: New UCOP Policy on Laboratory Safety Training
New On-Line UC Laboratory Safety Fundamentals Course

Colleagues:

On behalf of the UC Davis Chemical and Laboratory Safety Committee (CLSC), I would like to introduce the new UCOP Policy on Laboratory Safety Training (http://policy.ucop.edu/doc/3500598/LabSafetyTraining) and on-line training course entitled “UC Laboratory Safety Fundamentals”. This new policy and course were developed by faculty and staff throughout the UC system and will be used by all ten campuses as the minimum training requirements and baseline laboratory safety course for all Principal Investigators and laboratory personnel. This assures a common level of training across the ten campuses and serves to meet our regulatory requirements.

At UC Davis, the on-line course must be successfully completed by all existing laboratory personnel prior to October 31, 2013 or before any new worker is granted unescorted access to the laboratory. Refresher training for the Fundamentals of Laboratory Safety will be provided at a minimum of every three (3) years.

If you have taken one of the following courses after June 15, 2010, that class will meet the initial training requirement for existing laboratory personnel. You will need to take the new on-line course within three years of the date you completed the class:
